

Kinga Makovi

Curriculum Vitae

August 2013

Address: Department of Sociology, Columbia University
606 West 122nd Street, Room 512
New York, NY, 10027 USA
Phone: +1 617 817 3418
Email: km2730@columbia.edu

EDUCATION

2013 –	Exchange Student	Department of Sociology, Harvard University
2012	MA, Sociology	Department of Sociology, Columbia University
2010 –	PhD Candidate	Department of Sociology, Columbia University
2010	MS, Economics	Department of Economics, Corvinus University of Budapest
2006	Erasmus Student	Institut Supérieur du Commerce, Paris

ACADEMIC EXPERIENCE

2013	Participant	Network Modeling for Epidemics, Summer Workshop University of Washington
2012	Teaching Assistant	Designs of Social Research , Peter Bearman Columbia University
2011	Teaching Assistant	Social World , Peter Bearman Columbia University
2011	Participant	Graphical Models for Causal Inference Workshop Columbia University
2010 –	Research Fellow	Wired Into Each Other , Karoly Takacs Research Center for Educational and Network Studies
2010	Teaching Assistant	Introduction to Complex Systems , Peter Erdi Kalamazoo College
2009	Participant	Complex Systems and Social Simulations Central European University, Summer Program
2008	Teaching Assistant	Multisectoral Macroeconomic Analysis , Erno Zalai Corvinus University of Budapest
2007	Teaching Assistant	Comparative Economics , Peter Gedeon Corvinus University of Budapest

PUBLICATIONS

Papers

1. Hagen, R., K. Makovi, and P. Bearman (2013). The Influence of Political Dynamics on Southern Lynch Mob Formation and Lethality. Social Forces. forthcoming.
2. Erdi, P., K. Makovi, Z. Somogyvari, K. Strandburg, J. Tobochnik, P. Volf, and L. Zalanyi (2012). Prediction of Emerging Technologies Based on Analysis of the U.S. Patent Citation Network. Scientometrics.

Conference Presentations

1. Hagen, R., K. Makovi, and P. Bearman (2013). The Influence of Political Dynamics on Southern Lynch Mob Formation and Lethality. American Sociological Association: Annual Meeting, New York. roundtable.
2. Hagen, R., K. Makovi, and P. Bearman (2013). The Influence of Political Dynamics on Southern Lynch Mob Formation and Lethality. 6th International Network of Analytical Sociologists Conference, Stockholm.
3. Hagen, R., K. Makovi, and P. Bearman (2013). The Influence of Political Dynamics on Southern Lynch Mob Formation and Lethality. Aage Sorenson Conference, New York.
4. Makovi, K., K.-Y. Liu, and P. Bearman (2012). The Fertility Behavior of Parents with Children with Autism. IMFAR, Toronto, Canada.
5. Makovi, K., B. Neray, and J. Pal (2010). Being Loved or Being Acclaimed – How Does (Not) Status Rivalry Bias Performance in Friendship Networks? XXX. Sunbelt Social Network Conference, Riva del Garda, Italy.
6. Takacs, K., K. Makovi, Z. Boda, and B. Neray (2010). Agent Based Modeling of School Classes. XXX. Sunbelt Social Network Conference, Riva del Garda, Italy.

HONORS AND AWARDS

2013	Alex Inkeles Award for Outstanding Graduate Students	Columbia University
2013	Sydney Spivack Memorial Fund Travel Award	Columbia University
2010 – 2015	Paul F. Lazarsfeld Fellowship	Columbia University
2006 – 2009	GE Scholar Leader	GE Foundation Scholar Leaders Program

LANGUAGES

Hungarian	native
English	fluent
French	fluent
Spanish	basic

COMPUTER SKILLS

R, Stata, L^AT_EX

AFFILIATIONS AND MEMBERSHIPS

Member	American Sociological Association (2013 –)
Graduate Fellow	Interdisciplinary Center for Innovative Theory and Empirics (2012 –) Columbia University
Affiliated Student	Center for Organizational Innovation (2011 –) ISERP, Columbia University
Founding Member	Research Center for Educational and Network Studies (2010 –) Corvinus University of Budapest
Affiliated Student	Szechenyi Istvan Special College for Advanced Studies (2005 – 2010) Corvinus University of Budapest